EDUCATIONAL NOTES

"UNCLE BILL'S CURRICULUM" "READIN', 'RITIN' AN' RE- SPECTABILITY"

By Walt. Le Noir Church
"Readin', 'Ritin' an' Respectability"
Riding down a country highway in a buggy, I overtook a little bare-foot chap stepping briskly along, whistling a duet with a robin in a nearby apple tree. By the way, we were passing through a wide lane, one long enough to have its turning, with two lines of the old-time rail fence (made of the kind Lincoln split). In every other corner of that worm-fence was a fruit tree, planted on the roadside, so they were public property. There was over a mile of apple, peach, plum and cherry trees, with a good sprinkling of pear, apricot, nectarine and quince. It was known as "Uncle Bill's Public Orchard." That is what my little guest told me, for I was a stranger in those parts.

"But who is Uncle Bill?" I asked, wondering how that fine array of choicest fruit trees could be Uncle Bill's, and yet belong to the public.

"Uncle Bill? Why, he's our school teacher. I thought everybody knew Uncle Bill. He owns this big farm, and is the richest man in our county."

"Then why does he teach school for a living?"

"Oh, he does not teach for a living. He says he just teaches for fun, and to give the regular teacher time to earn a living. You see, the school trustees spent all the school money building a fine school house, so there was not enough left to pay the teacher. Then Uncle Bill offered to pay her salary and let her go to college if she would give him her job. She took him right up. So Uncle Bill and Aunt Jane have been our teachers ever since school took up last fall."

"Aunt Jane?"
"Yes sir; she's Uncle Bill's wife. All their children grew up and went away; so Aunt Jane and Uncle Bill have a bigger family than they ever had. Aunt Jane was a teacher before Uncle Bill caught her. And Uncle Bill was a teacher before he caught Aunt Jane. They both grew up and studied to be a teacher in the Orphans' Home. So Uncle Bill says it would not be respectable to stop teaching just because he found that his daddy had died in Australia and left him a fortune."

"But could he not repay the county more than money enough for all he and his wife cost it?"

"Of course. Uncle Bill has more money than he knows what to do with; but he says the county educated him, not for money but to be a teacher, and it's up to him to pay his debts."

"What does he teach you?"
"Oh, just Readin', 'Ritin' an' Respectability."

Thinking of the other time-honored R, I asked, "Doesn't he teach 'Rithmetic, too?"

"Oh, yes, sir. Uncle Bill says 'rithmetic is just one branch of respectability. You see, a sum has got but one answer; and if you do it wrong, you never get the answer. Uncle Bill says it's not respectable to do any kind of wrong, for then you never get the right answer to whatsoever kind of sum you are doing: at home, on the playground, down town, at the circus, in church, or Sunday School, or out visiting, or in the baseball team, or anywhere else. You just natcherally got to do it right or you don't get the right answer."

He left me wondering as I watched him get out, slip through between two crooked rails and, waving me a merry good-bye, go on up the path that led to the schoolhouse on the hill, where sunlight and pure air were unstinted.

Perhaps Uncle Bill and Aunt Jane are right. Doubtless we do have certain duties to the public which money cannot discharge; actual debts of honor which dollars cannot pay.

If we are really honest, in fact as well as in theory, is not a debt to the public as obligatory upon us, individually or collectively, as any debt to our merchant, our landlord, our church, our lodge or our club? Is it—or not? If not, why not? If it is, why don't we pay it? Do we shirk it merely because it can't be enforced under our present laws? Would we avoid any other debt of honor, just because it would not be enforced by law? If we did, could we dare to look ourselves in the eyes in our mirror, and still claim to be honest?

"Readin', 'Ritin' an' Respectability?"
Not a bad school curriculum as a starter in the primary grade, to be reviewed in the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades of the Grammar schools; then in every class through the High

HOWARD L. BROWN

PRESIDENT CALIFORNIA UNION OF CHRISTIAN EN- DEAVOR

Those who know Howard L. Brown never mention his name without thinking of Christian Endeavor. He has been active in Endeavor work for a number of years and was president of the Los Angeles County Union during the Pomona Convention in 1914 and the Pasadena one in 1915. Next he became general field secretary for the California State Union and at the State Convention last July he was elected president, which office he now holds.

Mr. Brown is a resident of Glendale and of course is more than interested in the coming Los Angeles

HOWARD L. BROWN

County Convention. His mother, Mrs. J. B. Brown, has written the Convention Hymn.

At present Mr. Brown is busy planning the program for the State Convention which this year will be held at Riverside June 27 to July 1st. Immediately after the close of the last session a special trainload of California Endeavorers will leave for the International C. E. Convention, which will be held in New York City in July.

During the past year Mr. Brown has given his entire time to Endeavor work and has been putting lots of "pep" into the work.

FAREWELL PARTY

A very pleasant and enjoyable affair took place at the home of Mrs. John Grant on Blanche avenue, Tropic, Tuesday, when Mrs. Grant and Mrs. Geo. Peterson were hostesses to a number of neighbors at a farewell party in honor of Mrs. A. Marek of 320 Blanche avenue and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Marek, who are to leave for Barstow to reside, and a stork shower for Mrs. Geo. Marek of West Tenth street. The affair was a complete surprise to the three ladies honored, and many nice things were received by Mrs. Geo. Marek and the two departing ladies received a number of farewell tokens that they will treasure as mementoes of the happy occasion in their new home. Mr. and Mrs. A. Marek and Mrs. Mary Marek will leave for Barstow about March 15. The afternoon was spent in pleasant, neighborly talk and an appetizing repast, consisting of cake, sandwiches and coffee was served. Those invited were Mrs. Wm. Peterson, Mrs. Geo. Peterson, Mrs. Anna G. Patterson, Mrs. Milton Armstrong and daughter, Hope, Mrs. M. Kuch, Mrs. Mary Marek, Mrs. Andrew Marek, Mrs. Geo. A. Marek, Mrs. W. W. Dunham, Mrs. J. Early and Mrs. Joseph Burke.

HONOR GUEST ON BIRTHDAY

Wednesday evening of this week Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Munson of Orange street entertained at an informal party in honor of Mrs. Munson's sister, Miss Leta Atkinson of Los Angeles. Those present included J. F. Atkinson and family of Los Angeles and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Gray of 233 N. Isabel street.

Mr. Julius Kranz, the violinist, of 1425 North Brand boulevard, was invited to play for a Bohemian smoker given by the Gamut club of Los Angeles on Wednesday evening. Mr. P. A. Kranz was also a guest of the Gamut club on that evening.

School and College, if we are among the few who attain to that. But, in any event, those basic studies should be continuously reviewed through all grades and promotions in our business life, as the only way to keep brightened up in Uncle Bill's curriculum, the best ever, so far as it goes.

What would happen to Glendale, if every one of us, men, women, boys and girls, honestly paid our civic debts to our Beautiful City of Homes? One thing, surely. There soon would not be homes enough.

GERMANY'S ATTEMPTS ARE FRUSTRATED

STATE DEPARTMENT DOES NOT BELIEVE JAPAN AND MEXICO ARE PARTIES TO PLOT AGAINST U. S.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Germany's attempt to align Mexico and Japan against America has been frustrated. The state department does not believe that Zimmerman's letter ever reached Carranza and therefore could not have reached Japan. President Wilson personally vouched for the authenticity of the letter to Senator Swanson who later explained this in Congress. The Japanese embassy issued a statement pledging continued friendship to America and stated that under no circumstances would the Japanese entertain such an invitation as Germany attempted to send to Tokio. Secretary of State Lansing stated that he did not believe that Japan had any knowledge of or would consider such a proposition. He is confident that Mexico would not become a party to such a plot in view of the friendly relations existing between the United States and the de facto government.

BRITONS MUST GO TO JAIL

CELLS AWAIT CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTORS TO WAR IN ENGLAND AFTER TO-DAY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, March 1.—Cells in Dartmoor prison to-day await conscientious objectors and others who refuse to fight for king and country from now on. The government has heretofore dealt leniently with the objectors, but after to-day they must either fight or be locked up. Dartmoor is the convict prison built in 1806 to hold French prisoners. Two thousand American seamen who refused to serve as British sailors in the war of 1812 against their own country were confined there, too. Jeremiah Lynch of Irish rebellion notoriety was sentenced to ten years there after the Sinn Fein uprising.

BISHOP LAWRENCE COLLECTS $5,000,000

PENSION FUND FOR EPISCOPAL CLERGYMEN IS COMPLETE—PROVIDES $600 ANNUALLY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

NEW YORK, March 1.—Bishop Lawrence of Massachusetts, who sat down in the midst of Wall street one year ago and started to collect $5,000,000 pension fund for superannuated Episcopal clergymen, completed his task to-day. He has the five million. The pension list will provide not less than $600 annually for old age or disability and from that up to half of the yearly salary. It will give widows of ministers not less than $300 annually and orphans $100 annually up to 7 years, $200 from 7 to 14 and $300 from 14 to 21.

FATHER CURRY GETS NEW PARISH

FIGHTING PRIEST OF LOWER NEW YORK IS NOW IRREMOVABLE PASTOR OF CHURCH OF HOLY NAME

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

NEW YORK, March 1.—Father James B. Curry, for sixteen years militant pastor of St. James Catholic church in downtown New York, to-day assumed his duties as irremovable pastor of the Church of the Holy Name conferred on him by Cardinal Farley. Father Curry has come to public notice in his fight for the children of downtown New York, organizing clubs to keep the boys out of mischief and by personally conducting raids on disorderly houses.

SUSPECT SWISS MINISTER

OFFICIALS PRIVATELY ADMIT BELIEF THAT RITTER IS TAKING UP GERMAN PROPAGANDA

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, March 1.—While officials refuse to commit themselves officially, some privately admit that the administration believes that Swiss Minister Ritter, in charge of German affairs, is taking up German propaganda, which may force a show-down later.

GERMANS AID VILLA

GOVERNMENT AGENTS LEARN BANDIT'S FIELD CAMPAIGN ADVISED AND FINANCED BY GERMANY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

EL PASO, March 1.—Government agents have been informed that Germany has been advising and financing Villa's field campaign. It is declared that 200 Germans in New Mexico have been given permits of safety and personal privilege by both Villa and Carranza.

ROCHESTER RUNS BLOCKADE

AMERICAN STEAMER ARRIVES SAFELY AT BORDEAUX AFTER PASSING THE BARRED ZONE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

BORDEAUX, March 1.—The American steamer Rochester arrived to-day at the mouth of the river Gironne after running through the blockaded zone.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR BALL

MASONIC TEMPLE THE SCENE OF BRILLIANT SOCIAL AFFAIR LAST NIGHT

Masonic Temple was the scene of the gayest and swellest affair ever held in Glendale last night, when Glendale Commandery of Knights Templar gave their second annual ball. The Temple had been most artistically decorated by Mrs. Charles L. Peckham, assisted by Mrs. David Crofton, Sir C. L. Chandler and Sir C. L. Peckham, with masses of red carnations and English ivy and the Templar banners and American flags, carrying out the Knight Templar colors of red and black. In this setting the Knights in their uniforms and the many beautiful gowns worn by the ladies made a picture most pleasing to gaze upon. Commandery drill work in full dress uniform was put on the floor under charge of Sir Charles L. Peckham, and the commandery was inspected by Eminent Sir Mattison Boyd Jones, Sir Clem L. V. Moore, Eminent Sir E. K. Daniels, and Eminent Sir Chas. C. Ritzenhouse. After the inspection the Commandery was turned over to Generalissimo Clem L. V. Moore, who took charge and put on the Templar triangle. The effective work of the Commandery was greatly enjoyed by the guests. Miss Florence Rattray, the wonderful little child singer, sang in her usual sweet manner, "A Perfect Day," and for an encore gave "Comin' Through the Rye."

Mr. Parker also gave a very enjoyable vocal selection. Sir Otto J. Ehlers, chairman of the reception committee, was ably assisted by other Sir Knights. About two hundred and fifty people formed in the grand march which was led by Sir Knight and Mrs. Charles L. Peckham, and music for dancing was furnished by the Smaby orchestra of Los Angeles. The floor committee chairman was Sir Thomas H. Rosenberger and he was assisted by other Sir Knights in completing the success of the ball already assured by the good floor and fine music. And while the hours were joyfully danced away below stairs, Sir Knight and Mrs. C. W. Kimberly presided over the card tables above stairs where nine tables were engaged in the fascinating game of "500." The gentleman's honors were won by Mr. Emery, first prize, S. G. Wylie second, and Mr. Spaulding, consolation. The ladies' prizes were won by Miss Metcalf, first, Mrs. Frank Booth, second, and Mrs. Park, consolation.

A buffet luncheon was served all during the evening in the commandery room under the direction of Sir Knight Donecken, who was assisted by colored help, and a most delicious combination of the things that delight the inner man was dispensed by them. Sir W. S. Rattray, who had charge of the punch served in the ball room, was also a popular man during the evening and was liberally patronized by the dancers who found his a pretty good brand of liquid refreshment.

The large assemblage found the hours for dispersing draw near much too soon and the Knights Templar were voted royal hosts, for never had they enjoyed a pleasanter evening or been more splendidly entertained. The general committee of arrangements to whom much of the success of the affair is due, was composed of Sir Charles L. Peckham, Sir Clem L. V. Moore, and Sir David G. Crofton, Jr.

CIRCLE CELEBRATES

MUTUAL BENEFIT READING CLUB OBSERVES FIRST ANNIVERSARY

Yesterday was a gala day in the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle. They celebrated the first anniversary of their organization. It was a delightful coincidence that Mrs. Milton P. Higgins of Worcester, Massachusetts, who is a vice-president of the National Congress of Mothers, and president of the Massachusetts Congress of Mothers, was able to be present, she having arrived from her trip across the continent early yesterday morning. Mrs. Higgins has done a great deal for the organizations named above. She is a woman of large means and broad culture, and she devotes her time and her endowments, both personal and financial, to the forwarding of the cause of childhood and the home. Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, President of the Glendale Federation of P. T. A., was also a special guest of the Circle.

As this was an unusual occasion, the usual routine was departed from. Mrs. Higgins gave a very delightful brief talk on the requisites of the mother as a useful member of the community. She said that any mother's attributes, considered unitedly, should spell SERVICE. Mrs. Hutchinson commended the work of the reading circles as being of great value to the homes, assisting in the practical and satisfactory solution of the trying problems that arise.

The members united in singing a song, "My Tribute," the words of which were composed by Mrs. Higgins. This is a tribute to the three who most strongly influence the child's life: Mother, Father, Teacher. Mrs. Toll gave a report of the main accomplishments achieved by the circle during the year past, and sketched what she hopes to do this coming year. It is the plan to increase greatly the efficiency of the circle.

A beautiful solo, "Mother Machree," the tribute of a son to his aged mother, was sung by the celebrated tenor, John McCormack (on the Victrola). This voice so full of tender pathos was greatly enjoyed.

When all were gathered around the tea-table at noon, a birthday cake, bearing one flaming candle, decorated with gold and white jasmine blossoms, was a surprise to the guests.

Those present yesterday were: Mmes. A. M. Beamon, R. T. Burr, C. M. Brubaker, James Campbell, Geo. H. Dewey, Harry Duey, H. H. Faries, F. V. Hall, W. T. Hall, Miss N. E. Dewey, Mmes. H. V. Henry, W. R. Heustis, N. C. Kelley, F. Eichelberger, G. M. Harrison, F. I. Kurtz, O. C. Logan, Ernest McConnell, C. M. Nichols, O. H. Ormsby, C. E. Rathbone, T. W. Sampson, J. H. Southard, A. P. Knight, John H. Foley, J. S. Jackson, H. D. Lockwood, F. W. Denney, W. H. Spink, A. R. Dimick, J. W. West, Julius Kranz, S. G. Wright, E. Chapella, the guests of honor, Mrs. Milton P. Higgins and Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, and the hostess, Mrs. Chas. H. Toll.

MR. HENRY WIDE-AWAKE

F. J. W. Henry of 1324 Arden avenue owns a few very fine chickens, and it is not his intention to let a cheap chicken thief get them, even if that thief visits the roosts in the dark hours of the night. Wednesday night Mr. Henry's chicken yard was visited by men who were about ready to depart with half a dozen of fat hens, but the noise of the chickens crying awoke him and immediately a window was raised and the clear Scotch accents caused the thieves to suddenly change their minds and make their departure without the chickens. Tracks on the ground near the chicken house give evidence that the hen lifters were riding bicycles. Mr. Henry's shotgun is now in a handy position, and the next visitors on a like errand will carry away souvenirs which will recall unpleasant memories.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Friday. Heavy frost Friday morning. Northwesterly winds.

ange street, J. H. Walters, contractor, $100.

Manjiro Katsuki, garage, 324 Chestnut street, J. Witham, contractor, $60.

Florence J. Bennette, addition, Third and Belmont, $40.

J. L. Gray, garage, 233 N. Isabel street, $40.

Hilda Miller, bath room, 1547 Vine street, $35.

READ THE HANDWRITING ON THE WALL

For nearly three years the attention of a civilized world has been devoted to wars and rumors of wars. For what do education and art count if they can not influence people to live in peace and harmony? Germany has been in the past considered the seat of learning, and it is to Germany people of other nations have gone to finish their education. Great Britain has had the name of being comprised of a refined and well-balanced class of people. What is the cause of all these differences in this land of plenty? Have the rulers of these countries become mad?

The warring countries are not even satisfied with the present condition of strife, but they are intent upon forcing the United States to take sides and become a partner in the terrible struggle. It is to be hoped that men high in position in the United States will be slow to encourage the bringing on of difficulties with foreign countries, but it is to be hoped that those same men high in position will read the handwriting on the wall, and make haste to provide all necessary protection against foreign foes. We are not a warring people, but we are a sensible people. When the time comes that the enemy makes an attack upon our coasts, may such preparation have been previously made that the enemy will be driven back in such a manner that the attack will not be repeated.

It is not honorable for one man to fight with another, and yet when a man knows he is about to be attacked by a mad man, it is good sense for that man to be so prepared that he can ward off the attack. It is the duty of the United States to be exceedingly busy at the present time making preparations, not to declare war, but to protect herself in case foreign countries invade our country.

THE MISSION PLAY AT SAN GABRIEL

It is good news for the people of California and the throngs of visiting tourists that the world-famed and well-beloved Mission Play will reopen in its own historic theatre for a brief season beginning with a matinee at 2:30 o'clock next Sunday afternoon, March 4.

This good news is greatly augmented by the announcement that Mr. Tyrone Power, probably the greatest living English speaking actor, will essay the leading historic role of Fra Junipero Serra. Thousands of Californians who have witnessed the Mission Play time and again will be more eager now than ever to see it because of the appearance of Tyrone Power, if for no other reason.

The reassembled cast of players includes not only the original band of performers but will have in addition several new actors selected for their exceptional abilities. Miss Lucretia del Valle returns, and the famous Spanish singers and dancers, as well as the marvellous expert Indian dancers who have for years delighted Mission Play audiences, will all be back.

Performances of the Mission Play will be given every afternoon, including Sunday afternoon, and there will be two night performances each week, namely, on Wednesday night and Saturday night.

With everyone in the State of California vitally affected by the soaring "High Cost of Living" these days, the Home Industry League of California is out with a "Bulletin" telling the people of the State how each can materially reduce the living cost of his or her respective family and, at the same time, add a larger variety to the household larder.

Stated in a single sentence, the Home Industry League invites the attention to housewives to the fact that high-priced potatoes and onions and beans—the retail prices of which, during the past month, has placed these commodities in the "millionaire's menu" only—can be replaced, cheaply and pleasantly, by the purchase of "RICE—California rice."

Mrs. Frank A. Stephens and Wm. Dieterle presented to the South Pasadena city council this week the proposition of the city supervising the planting of vacant lots by persons who desire to raise garden produce such as potatoes, onions and other vegetables. Mrs. Stephens represented the civics committee of the Woman's Improvement association and said this committee would be willing to help in any way possible in making the lots produce crops of value, instead of weeds. Mr. Dieterle suggested that the council appoint a committee to confer with the ladies to see if a plan cannot be worked out somewhat similar to that in Alhambra, Pomona or Santa Monica. In Santa Monica the city furnishes free water for the vacant lots cultivated by residents of the city. Suggestion was made that the city plow a lot free for any person, other than the owner thereof, who will agree to plant it to vegetables and take care of the crop. The matter was referred to the park committee.

SCIENTIFIC PREPAREDNESS

Dean Charles Edward Munroe of George Washington university, inventor of smokeless powder, and authority on explosives, not only set an example for other scientific men in offering his services to the government in the event of war, but directs attention to a fundamental phase of preparedness in modern times. Modern warfare is not alone waged on the battle fronts, but in industrial plants, and in physical and chemical laboratories. Germany knew this and therein lay an important element in her readiness. She had her physicists and chemists at work in experimental fields while Great Britain was sending her men of science to the battle front to be shot.

Dr. Robert W. Wood of Johns Hopkins university recently called attention to this factor in preparedness and he pointed to the laboratories of the Baltimore university with such men as Dr. Remsen and Dr. Welch, who would be invaluable advisers in a national military emergency. Dr. Wood dwelt upon the effects of what he termed the "enlistment fever," which in the first throes of a national crisis, is apt to sweep men off their feet, and cause them to join the fighting forces for the purpose of proving their bravery. It is up to any far-seeing government to keep such men, just as it keeps expert mechanics, in the places where their trained minds will be for greatest benefit to their country.

STUDIES IN PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT

By Walt. Le Noir Church

STUDY XXIV. GLENDALE DEVELOPMENT

Yesterday several Glendadians were discussing Glendale's development and predicting the special line of progress Glendale is likely to take. All assumed that there would be decided advancement in Glendale property, for the good reason that so many people will be coming here in search of homes that the price of home sites will be increased by such demand. The law of supply and demand is one of the things in business on which business men generally safely rely.

For convenience, let us call the three men Mr. X, Mr. Y and Mr. Z. Said Mr. Z: "Time and again have I stood and gazed around at the picturesque foothills which enclose this charming valley. I never get tired of that scene. Its beauty excels any other I ever saw. In fact, I do not know of any other city so situated. Then I always think that some day those foothills and the benches leading up to them will prove to be the greatest asset Glendale has for inducing people of wealth to build fine dwelling houses in and around Glendale. The suburbs of Glendale would surely be as a city set on a hill. Its beauty and manifest advantages of climate, location, water, light, transportation and general wholesomeness, would draw so many people that the highest priced property would be along those hills, from base to summit. There will be many attractive driveways meandering down those hills, all leading into the broad boulevard which will come in from Los Angeles and follow the general base of the foothills from left to right, say, going through Tropic, then on around to the west and north of Glendale for miles, through picturesque loveliness not found elsewhere to my knowledge.

"Outside of business blocks, the property which will bring the fancy prices in years to come will be along the line of that circling boulevard, which will be lined with large estates and palatial residences.

"I can see all that, 'In my mind's eye, Horatio.'"

"That," said Mr. Y, "sounds very good; but coming down to cold facts, it may be different. For instance, Not long ago, a man of wealth who had heard of Glendale's attractiveness as a home city, came here prepared to like the place and to buy some valuable property. He was shown the foothills and urged to consider them as a paying investment. He happened to be a man who does not care for hills and he bought about the flattest piece of property he could find in Glendale. So there are two sides to the question."

"Quite right, Mr. Z. But you practically admit the gist of what I urge. Of course many will prefer the low grounds; but there will be Highlanders enough to make that hill property sell at prices now unheard of in this community, even for the most desirable home sites. Then, again, Mr. Y, at the time you mention, there was no broad, beautiful boulevard, such as I predict, as one of the inducements bringing the kind of people who would prefer that highland property. Without that grand boulevard, the whole proposition is different. That is the work which ought to be done by the county. But if Tropic, Eagle Rock and Crescenta would unite with Glendale, forming one municipality, that boulevard could easily be accomplished, for the manifest advantage of all concerned."

"Well, perhaps you both are right," put in Mr. X. "Whatever inducement there may be for many people to live on those hills, along that beautiful boulevard, there are, on the other hand, many more who will prefer the valley homes, in easy reach of the postoffice, the drug store, the drygoods and grocery stores. With the majority of people, convenience to the staples of city life, constitutes a large part of the joy of living. But I have noted down the fair prophecy of Mr. Z about the future of those foothills, and we shall see whether he proves to be a true prophet. But, Mr. Z, what surprises me is that you—but, on second thought, I guess I had as well not say it."

"Oh, speak out, Mr. X; open confession is said to be good for the soul."

"Well, since you insist, it is this: If you believe so strongly in the future great value of those hills, why not buy a few of them while the buying is easy?"

"Oh, that's no argument, Mr. X, as you well know. I believe many things are safe investments which I have no idea of buying; so, perhaps, do you."

"Yes, I know. But that very question would be asked by those you might try to induce to buy in the foothills. Yes, what proves convincing to some would be no inducement to others, and vice versa. The main point is, that between the lure of the foothills and the urge of the valley, Glendale has a brilliant future."

"We will make it unanimous and let it go at that."

RAISE MONEY FOR MISSIONS

At the First Congregational church last Sunday morning the pastor preached a strong sermon on the missionary work of the Congregational church. Many interesting and illuminating facts and figures were presented showing the denomination's mission activities. Aggressive and efficient work is carried on in many parts of the world. The moral, social and spiritual welfare of over 75,000,000 people are assigned to this denomination. These 75,000,000 are distributed as follows: Africa, 1,103,000; Balkan States, 9,800,000; Turkey, 17,775,000; India, 6,587,000; Ceylon, 178,000; China, 23,000,000; Japan, 12,000,000; Micronesia, 32,000; Philippines, 700,000; Mexico, 1,027,000; Spain, 1,449,000; Austria, 1,325,000.

The mission activities are carried on along four distinct yet co-ordinating lines, educational, medical, social uplift and religious.

Fourteen theological seminaries, 122 boarding and high schools, 1432 other schools, 25 industrial plants, 49 dispensaries and 33 hospitals are maintained.

In the United States many schools and missions are provided for the "Mountain Whites" and Negroes as well as for Mexicans, Japanese and Chinese.

On account of the inclement weather the audience was not as large as usual, yet $307.50 was pledged for missions. This amount will be materially increased by some of those not present.

At the evening service Dr. Willisford had for the sermon theme, "Jesus the Truth." Jesus was declared not only the teacher of "truth," but "The Truth." Jesus as "The Truth" is the pathway to freedom, for Jesus declared, "know the truth and the truth shall make you free." Jesus as the truth frees men from sin, the power and love of sin; it destroys a "bad memory," it destroys an evil past, it severs from evil associations and associates, it makes it possible for man to become all that God designed man should be.

Next Sunday morning "An every member" service will be held. It is planned to have every member of the church and congregation present.

One phase of the pastor's sermon will center around the ditty, "If every church member was a member just like me, what kind of a church would my church be?"

REMEMBRANCE

Frank had behaved beautifully at the Christmas dinner until the dessert arrived.

"Mamma," he cried, "will the fruit hurt me or is there enough to go round?"

"How fast can this car go?"
"Sixty miles an hour."
"Thank you. That will relieve me of the necessity of trying to find out its maximum speed for myself."

Mrs. H. R. Sibley of 1517 Tenth street, with twenty-one other ladies from Los Angeles, who are members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Order of Railway Conductors of America, attended the banquet given by that order in San Bernardino Wednesday. ## C. E. PAGE'S SOCIAL

All those who are to act as pages during the coming Endeavor Convention will gather in the Presbyterian church at 7:30 next Saturday evening for a social time.

THE ROSARY

I bless myself and I kiss the Cross,
And the holy creed I tell;
And the Paters and Aves slip off my tongue,
For it's me that knows them well.

For it's many a day the same old beads
I've told in the same old way.
I got them my first Communion morn,
And that's sixty years this May.

'Twas the "Joyful Mysteries" then I liked,
And I said them joyfully;
When our Lord was only a Child,
Himself,
At His blessed Mother's knee.

Ochone, but it's many and many a year
I've turned from the joyful deeds,
And I cry on the "Sorrowful Mysteries"
With tears as big as my beads.

For my beautiful boy with the fever went,
And "himself" next morning died;
Do you wonder I think on the Mysteries
That end with the Crucified?

For it's then, as I'm telling each blessed bead,
A-kneeling beside my bed—
We two women, God's mother and I—
Have many a talk of our dead.

But what am I crying about at all?
Sure all of us have to die;
I have my sins, and She had none;
'Tis I have reason to cry.

And that's why I'm liking the beads that tell
Of her pains and her darling Son;
'Tis plenty of time I'll be having in Heaven,
To think of the glorious ones.

REV. JAMES S. O'NEILL,
Glendale, Cal., March 1, 1917.

Mrs. Genevieve Goss was hostess to Chapter L. of P. E. O. on Wednesday afternoon, when a program of national music was given by Mrs. A. L. Bryant, assisted by Mrs. Ramsay, Mrs. R. E. Chase and Mrs. Goss. Mrs. Bryant gave the history of national music, from the earliest national music down to the present time, including the folk songs of America, illustrations of which were given on the piano. The program was very opportune at this time and was both interesting and enjoyable. Light refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon.

INAUGURAL THROUGS CROWD WASHINGTON

(By United Press.)

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Washington, the nation's hostess city is again today Mecca for the quadrennial inaugural pilgrimage. The pilgrims, hundreds of thousands of them have been arriving, pouring in, literally deluging the city for the past ten days.

At all times called upon to receive hospitably the nation's guests, the capital at inaugural times, virtually keeps open house. Hotels double up, every citizen takes in some visiting acquaintance and the public buildings, halls and even churches, are filled with cots and beds to house the throngs. For ten days the town is turned helter-skelter, scrambled and left at the close of the national jamboree, prostrate.

FREE STEREOPTICON TO-NIGHT

Owing to a sudden throat trouble, Mrs. Rosie Shelton, lecturer on the High Sierras, is unable to come to Glendale to-night. She has, however, secured for the Glendale Garden Society a notable substitute. David Curry, of Curry's Camp, will give a stereopticon talk on the Yosemite. No man knows more of the Yosemite Valley than Mr. Curry. He has lectured to many thousands of people upon this fascinating region. His personality, his pictures, his wonderful voice, are all unique. This entertainment is provided by the Garden Society free of charge. Just walk in, take a seat, and enjoy yourself. Don't miss this unusual opportunity. High School auditorium, to-night, at 8 o'clock. Everybody welcomed.

AT STATE CAPITOL

WET AND DRY FIGHT IN LEGISLATURE OF SMALL CONSEQUENCE

From present indications there's not going to be much of a wet and dry fight in the legislature after all. A surprisingly large number of senators and assemblymen, including both wets and dries, are of the opinion that it is not the legislature's business to act on booze bills.

In explanation of their views they say: "The people voted last year on prohibition measures, and will vote on them again, through the initiative, next year. Furthermore, any law enacted by the legislature, unless in the nature of a compromise, will be held up by referendum. It's a matter the people should decide."

It appears that the nearest thing to a compromise measure is the winemen's saloon regulation bill introduced by Assemblyman Ashley. But even this proposal, in its entirety, is not satisfactory. Certain features of the bill, such as Sunday closing, may be acceptable to the dries, but for the dries to yield to the whole bill could be taken as an indication that they are willing to stand for regulated saloons and thus their fight for prohibition would be weakened. Branches of the liquor forces are also against the bill.

A more likely compromise, as it now appears, will be an agreement to allow all booze bills to die in committee.

Speaker C. C. Young and leaders in both branches of the legislature plan to wind up the session by May 1. April 28 is considered the likely date for final adjournment.

Chairman Slater of the senate fish and game committee has set March 14 as the date for the public hearing on the "non sale of trout" bill. One of the hottest tilts of the session will come on this bill.

The sum of $8,890 is voted to pay salaries and mileage of solons.

The state fish and game committee recommends the passage of the bill to prohibit wineries from dumping refuse into streams. Prohibition for the fish, so to speak.

Among the lobbyists early on the scene are W. V. Hill of Los Angeles, representing 27 electric railway companies; James Oliver of San Francisco, representing the railroads, and Robert Long of San Francisco, representing the cement trust.

SUFFRAGISTS MAP WAR POLICY

(By United Press.)

WASHINGTON, March 1.—An army of representative women from all parts of the country descended upon the national capital today to help to frame a war time policy for suffragists and to take part in the huge suffrage demonstration at the White house Sunday afternoon. The question as to what part the suffragists shall play in the event of war will be decided at the conventions of the Congressional union and the National woman's party which open to-night. The proposed merger of these two powerful organizations of unfranchised and voting women into one huge political organization also will be acted upon by the conventions.

CURRY, THE STENTOR

David Curry, owner of Curry's Camp, Yosemite, who lectures to-night at the High School, holds the world's record for the biggest voice. It is said that his voice, when he shouts, can be heard at a distance of 12 miles. It costs nothing to hear him and to view his beautiful stereopticon slides. Everybody come.

"A man has to have something more than book learning to get on in life."

"Yes," replied Mr. Cassius Chex, "if you want to do anything in the stock market you want to get your information away ahead of the printer."—Washington Star.

A committee appointed by the Pomona Chamber of Commerce has sent out a call to citrus growers and experiment station men to attend a meeting at Pomona Friday to discuss orchard heating without smoke and it is expected that a campaign for the development of smokeless heaters, which would rid Southern California of the "smudge" nuisance will be inaugurated.

MUSIC SECTION

The Music Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club will meet at the home of Mrs. E. W. Kinney, 1223 West Seventh street, Friday afternoon. Carrie Stone Freeman, district chairman of music, will be the guest of honor. All members are urged to be present.

AMBIGUOUS

Mrs. N. Price of Fresno was a visitor at the home of Mrs. L. N. Rudy a few days last week.

The young men of the valley have been earnestly at work practicing baseball for the past two weeks in an endeavor to win the championship of the three valleys, but the question has arisen, where will the home grounds be? The team is continually on the lookout for a tract of vacant land large and level enough to be used as a diamond, but so far no satisfactory location can be found.

The F. M. Steele place on Los Angeles avenue at Honolulu is completely finished and the tenants will move in about March first.

Mr. A. W. Brown reports selling the upper portion of his tract of land on Los Angeles avenue to Mr. Woolsey. The sale comprises the north 4½ acres, bounded by Mayfield and Los Angeles avenues.

The Middlekauff family, who have been renting the Dyer place, moved to Los Angeles on Thursday. The grammar school feels the loss of the three children: Tom, in the eighth grade; Helen in the seventh, and Richard in the fourth.

Cafeteria Dinner

The Ladies' Aid society of the La Crescenta church will serve a cafeteria dinner at the church on Tuesday, March 13, from 5 to 8. Everybody come.

The pupils of the eighth grade under the supervision of Miss Jones held a class debate Friday on the subject "Resolved that the Government Should Control Natural Resources." Those upholding the affirmative were Alberta Bethrand, Andrew Peddie, Clara Green, Amanda Norberg; negative, Dean Culbertson, Rudolph Rheinchild, Richard Starr, Isabelle Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. MacFarlin of Los Angeles were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wetherbee on Thursday evening.

The Sunday school superintendent reports a class of seven members in the cradle roll at the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Higginbotham, who have been staying at the Fairmount hotel for the past month, left on Monday for their former home in Spokane, Wash. Incidentally, Mr. Higginbotham, who has been afflicted with asthma for a number of years, claims to be entirely cured of his sickness after only a month's stay in Crescenta.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Matson have been living with the Foy family the past week while their home is being plastered and refinished.

Mrs. V. B. Claplin returned Monday after making a short trip to Arizona, where she visited her son, near Phoenix.

The Ladies' Aid society of La Crescenta church will do plain sewing at reasonable prices. Bring your sewing to the church the last Tuesday of each month.

Henceforth maximum and minimum temperature reports for La Crescenta will be given. According to records made by F. Pinkus with a thermometer ten feet above ground the maximum temperature since January 1 is 74 degrees and minimum temperature is 33 degrees.

The Missionary society met at the home of Mrs. McLaughlin on Friday of this week.

Miss Florence Clark of Los Angeles was a week end visitor at the Hawkins residence. Miss Clark was a guest at the Masquerade dance Saturday evening.

The Fairmount Hotel appears to be as popular in winter as in summer. Among the guests who registered during the past two weeks were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Holden, Chicago; Mrs. Sara Van Dyke, Los Angeles; Mrs. L. F. Doolittle, Los Angeles; Mrs. Emma Sargent, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Damon, Pasadena; Miss Harriet Damon, Pasadena; Geo. A. Damon, Jr., Pasadena; Mrs. Irene Boyd, Boston; Mrs. Myrtle Sumner, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McDonald, Spokane, Wash.; Emma and Lillie Kelley, Hartline, Wash.; Rev. Scott and family, La Canada; Mr. and Mrs. Leon Hause, Pasadena; Mr. P. Kelley, Hartline, Wash.; Mrs. Phoebe Miller, Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hause, Oak Park, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Stebbins, Red Wing, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Messler, Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. P. Wright, Woodland Park, Ill.; Mrs. E. B. Bannister, Hollywood, and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dunn, Long Beach.

The masquerade ball given last Saturday evening at the school auditorium by the La Crescenta dancing club was a wonderful success. The costumes were both beautiful and unique and German comedians, racing drivers, Indians, Mary Janes, Highland lasses, Red Cross nurses, Japanese maids and Red Riding Hoods made a most attractive picture as they mingled together. There were guests from Pasadena, Los Angeles, Glendale, Sunland, Glendora and La Canada. The officers of the dancing club are especially grateful to the La Canada people who have done so much to make these dances successful.

LA CANADA

Mysteriously garbed in such a way that no one knew who was who and totally disregarding the threatening showers, fifteen young people from La Canada piled in machines and motored to La Crescenta last Saturday night, where they spent the evening dancing at the Masquerade given by the La Crescenta Woman's club at the La Crescenta school house.

With about thirty-five couples present the floor was nicely filled. It was amusing for onlookers to watch the capers of the masqued. The latter utterly forgot themselves and gave full sway to the characters they were representing. Until ten sharp dancing went on to the accompaniment of signs rather than conversation. Each was trying with the greatest earnestness to conceal his identity.

With the signal for all masked to step out on the floor the masks were removed. Howls of laughter and surprise filled the room for the next ten minutes.

Clowns dominated the evening. But almost every nationality was represented, Egyptians, Indians, Spanish, Scotch, fairies from Fairyland and innumerable others. Little girls, dominos, outing girls and little boys, anything you please.

Upon departure everyone declared that this was the best dance the La Crescenta Woman's club had ever given.

Refreshments were served during the evening in a room adjoining the dance hall.

Those from La Canada who enjoyed the festivities of the evening were Misses Helen Cooper, Henrietta Home, Rowena, Lulu and Kathryn Green, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Bently, Mr. and Mrs. Max Green; Messrs. Howard Stickney, Sam Durand, Robert and Edwin Cooper, Kent Savage and Marion Lea.

After living in La Canada valley for over three years on the Dr. Salisbury ranch on Michigan avenue, Mr. Weaver and family are moving this week to a ranch in Imperial valley.

Mr. Weaver has taken care of the Salisbury place during his stay here with the greatest satisfaction. The ranch which is planted mainly in lemons has never been in such excellent condition as now.

Not only has Mr. Weaver proved himself a good rancher, but he and his family have been valuable citizens to La Canada. They will be greatly missed by a wide circle of friends.

Mr. Weaver takes with him his wife and two children, Miss Juanita and Master Waldemar. The boy and girl were attending a private school in Glendale.

"Shall La Canada become a city of the sixth class?" will be the subject discussed by Mr. C. B. Andrewson and other expected speakers at the next La Canada Improvement association to be held Saturday night, March 3, at the La Canada club hall. Mr. Andrewson, who will make the leading talk on the subject in question, has made a particular study along these lines. He has spoken before at the Improvement association and proved himself a competent speaker.

This is the first time that governmental talk has been brought up before the Improvement association. But during the past few years La Canada has grown so rapidly in numbers and in prosperity that several prominent citizens in the valley have been looking toward a systematic form of government.

"I should like to see every citizen in La Canada out Saturday night to the meeting," said Mr. Brooks, president of the association. "This is the most vital question that has ever come up before us. Its importance should be felt by every man and woman in the valley. I should like to see a record breaking crowd out for a change."

Why can't everyone make an effort to come out and take part in the improvement of our valley?

One of the great principles underlying our national constitution is freedom of speech and action. Every true American believes in the undisputed right of the individual. This is an age of self expression.

When we look back over the pages of history and see the tyranny of past ages, it makes the American swell with pride. We have at least slipped out of the old cloak of feudalism and domination. America recognizes every worthy thought and action of the individual. But liberalism must not intoxicate us with its powers.

There are no two men in the world exactly alike. Each is the victim of environment. Each is forming his ideas in the great school of experience. And no two men are influenced by the same experiences.

This gives rise to the variety of ideas which spring up on every subject. Even though your ideas exactly counteract the other fellows remember the great cry of our nation, liberalism and toleration toward all creeds.

Every man is privileged to his own ideas and you have no right to interfere. No matter how greatly men differ you have no right to deliberately hurt another's feelings.

Our constitution says that man is free in speech and action as long as he does not infringe on the rights of others.

It is your privilege to hold a red hot poker in your hand and swing it around in the air to your heart's content. But when that poker begins to burn the other fellow, your liberty stops.

Think twice before you act. Judge not only from your own standpoint, but from the other fellow's also.

Searching for clues leading to the cause of the murder of Elbert De Marcus, jitney driver in Glendale, which occurred in La Canada last Tuesday night, Detectives Fox and Nolan made a complete survey this week of the scene of the murder and the home of De Marcus in Glendale.

Although evidence was not thoroughly clear, the detectives were inclined to believe that one or two or three women were the cause of De Marcus' assassination.

It was stated by the detectives that several Glendale women expressed willingness to tell of their acquaintance with the young jitney driver, which would no doubt throw light on the mystery. But as yet no evidence has been revealed.

If the case is taken up before the criminal complaints committee of the grand jury this week the women in question will be called to testify.

ESSENTIALS TO BUSINESS SUCCESS

I am not one to dwell on saving pennies. Be bold and take reasonable risks. The boy in the workshop has the same chance to succeed as the boy in the university.

A PLEASING PERSONALITY IS ONE OF THE IMPORTANT REQUISITES FOR SUCCESS. BE A GENTLEMAN AT ALL TIMES.

Honesty and integrity are absolute necessities. Be proud. Hold up your head when you talk to men of affairs. Never cringe and always hold a stiff upper lip. Money is not a success. It is a mere measure.

There are more opportunities for success to-day than ever.

It is no crime to make a mistake once. To make the same mistake twice is unpardonable.—By Charles M. Schwab, Steel Magnate.

MUSICAL BRUISES

"That's a peculiar looking bruise you have on the back of your neck," observed the doctor.

"Yes," said the patient. "I am subject to those. You see, I'm a clarinet player in an orchestra."

"I don't see how that can produce bruises on the back of your neck."

"It doesn't produce them exactly, but it places me in a position where I am very liable to get them."

"How is that?"

"I sit directly in front of the man who plays the slide trombone."

PAID IN ADVANCE

"Now lemme see," said the rural justice, figuring on the back of an old envelope, "your bill will come to jest—47."

"Forty-seven dollars?" echoed Wigglethorpe. "Why, judge, the fine for overspeeding is only $15."

"Ya-as, I know," said the justice. "The thirty-two dollars is for contempt o' court."

"But I haven't expressed any contempt for this court," protested Wigglethorpe.

"Not yit, ye haven't," grinned the justice, "but ye will, my friend; ye will before ye git a mile out o' town. I've made the fine pretty stiff so's t' give ye plenty o' room to move round in."

ANCIENT PUBLICITY DEVICES

The Egyptian gentleman who sought a runaway slave 3000 years ago and advertised on a bit of papyrus for his recovery turned out the first piece of advertising copy.

Whoever he was, he was a genius in more than a small way. His copy still lives, preserved in the British museum, as an exhibit of considerable archaeological importance and as an example of what our advertising experts of today would do if they, like the Egyptian, did not have the benefit of up-to-date information.

The Egyptians knew nothing about the topography of advertising nor the effect of different colors. He didn't know, for instance, that red is the most effective eye catching color and that green is second and black third.

Of these and a thousand other things that influence the character of present day advertisements he was totally in ignorance. But he gets full credit for making the first attempt at a written advertisement.

The Greeks, with a fine regard for art, usually made music a part of the advertising program. They gave us the idea of employing bands to attract attention, undoubtedly one of the most successful methods of drawing a crowd at any place and time.

At first a town crier, accompanied by a musician playing a lyre or a harp, mingled among the Greek peoples and used only the best and choicest Greek in his extravagant praise of the product he was exploiting. Later, however, private advertisements in writing began to be introduced, particularly on the whitened walls of the homes, giving some information regarding the social standing and the age of the residents, their financial rating and the family lineage.

The Romans advertised in many ways. They named their streets, advertised shows, exhibitions and sales on the terra cotta walls of public baths, acquainted the public with sales of estates and absconded debtors and began the practice of notifying the Romans of articles lost and found and houses for sale or rent.

The Romans are commonly credited with the origin of the sign board. Today we have the bulletin board, which corresponds to the Roman tabella found in the ruins of Pompeii and Herculaneum, where public announcements were made.

Advertising met the same fate as the Romans did when the Huns came sweeping down from the north. Until the middle ages very little of it is seen. But with the appearance again of the town crier, supplied with the customary long winded declarations and a choice supply of adjectives, advertising began to make itself felt in the conduct of business affairs. The public criers began to organize themselves both in France and in England and they were persons with considerable prestige.

From crying out the superior qualities of merchandise and all kinds of goods and wares the crier soon began to make announcement of things lost and found, of sales, weddings, christenings and other interesting events.

Gradually as time went on inns began to use distinctive signs and symbols to mark their hostleries, just as individuals had employed coats of arms. All kinds of devices were used and are still used by inns to the present day. All such signs as the blue anchor, the black dragon, the three tuns, the bear's head, the red lion and so on made definite representations and implications.

Of course with the development of the printing press advertising took a great spurt. The use of posters came into vogue and all kinds of pamphlets were printed and distributed. Printing gradually began to supersede the hand-written manuscript. William Caxton set up his press in Westminster abbey in 1471 and two centuries later, in 1622, a newspaper, believed to be the first real newspaper, was printed. It was called the Weekly News and purported to contain news of doings in Germany, France, Hungary and Bohemia.

From then on newspapers, mostly weekly publications, began to appear from time to time in increasing numbers. Advertisements of medicines began to be inserted in the newspapers at an early date. The insertion of the first real newspaper advertisements, however, is credited to Nathaniel Butler, who advertised books.

The first two magazines to carry advertisements were Godey's Lady Book and Petersen's, but it was not until 1864 that magazine advertising really began, and it was not until 1880 that a general use was made of magazines for advertising purposes.—Philadelphia Press.

LIBELED THE KING

A colonel in the Prussian army, who had been discharged at the close of the Seven Years' war, importuned Frederick the Great to be reinstated. Of the incessant solicitations of his troublesome visitor, Frederick at length gave orders that he should never be admitted to his presence. Some weeks later a most bitter libel against his majesty appeared. Frederick seldom gave himself any concern about such attacks, but the present one exasperated him so much that he offered a reward of 50 Friedrichs of gold for the discovery of the author. The day following the disgraced colonel demanded and obtained an audience.

"Sire," he began, on being admitted, "your majesty has just promised 50 Friedrichs for the discovery of the author of a recent publication. I am come to claim that recompense. Behold in me the unfortunate libeler! My life I forfeit freely, but remember your royal pledge, and while you punish me, send to my poor wife and children the reward due to the informer."

The king, although struck with the sad extremity and self sacrifice of the officer, said sternly:

"Go instantly to the fortress of Spandau and there await my judgment!"

"I obey," said the culprit. "But the money?"

"Within two hours your wife shall receive it," said the king. "Take this letter and give it to the commandant, but he must not open it until after dinner."

The colonel arrived at Spandau and gave himself up as a prisoner. At the prescribed moment the commandant opened the royal mandate. It ran: "To the bearer I give the command of Spandau. The present governor is to take the command of Berlin as a reward for past services."

FREDERICK.

EGGS IN THE DIET

Because of the peculiar food value of eggs, their relative freedom from waste, and the ease with which they may be prepared, their use as meat substitutes at least is often desirable, even when a consideration of their price alone would not so indicate. This is stated in a recently published professional paper of the Office of Home Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture, Department Bulletin 471. It is pointed out, however, that while this is true of eggs served as one of the principal dishes of a meal, it often is not true of eggs used in cakes, puddings, and other desserts along with meats. It is in the latter use of eggs that the housewife who wishes to economize can try especially to curtail consumption. A fact which makes this latter practice easier is that with the present availability of baking powders, corn starch, gelatin, etc., the use of eggs to impart lightness or to thicken liquids is not now as essential as it was in the past.

The principal food element furnished by eggs is protein, the nitrogenous tissue-building element whose presence in considerable proportions also gives meat, fish, milk, cheese, etc., their special food value. Eggs, therefore, can be substituted in the diet for the latter foods without materially altering the proportion of protein consumed. In addition to protein, eggs also furnish fat and a number of valuable mineral elements, including sulphur, phosphorus, iron, calcium, and magnesium, in an easily assimilable form, and are believed also to be rich in certain essential vitalizing elements called vitamins.

Like milk and unlike meat eggs do not contain substances convertible in the body into uric acid. Their shells constitute the only waste materials. Ninety-seven per cent. of the portion eaten—a high proportion compared to other foods—is digested. No extended cooking is necessary for eggs, and there is therefore a saving of time, labor, and fuel in their preparation when they are compared with many other foods. For all these reasons eggs deserve an important place in the diet for use at times in place of other foods rich in protein, provided egg prices are not so high as to outweigh the other considerations.

Though wholesome when fresh and clean, eggs may be decidedly unwholesome when old or dirty. The housewife should be careful when buying, therefore, to choose eggs which are as clean and fresh as possible. Similarly, the producer of eggs should keep nests clean and sanitary and should collect eggs frequently. It is also well to insure the production of eggs with good keeping qualities by producing only infertile eggs after the hatching season.

In addition to cleanliness and freshness, the housewife when purchasing eggs should consider size and freedom from cracks. Eggs vary so in size that a dozen large and a dozen small eggs purchased at the same price per dozen may differ as much as 25 per cent. in the value of the food elements furnished. Perhaps the fairest way to buy or sell eggs is by weight. Because of the wide variations in the size of eggs, it is also coming to be recognized that more accurate results in recipes can be obtained by weighing or measuring the eggs out of their shells. Cracked eggs are undesirable because the breaking of the shell makes possible the entrance of bacteria and filth.

Because fewer eggs are produced in the most populous regions of the country than are consumed there, and because the seasons have a marked effect on the number of eggs laid, city housewives must use cold storage eggs during some periods of the year if they are to supply their tables at all with this food. The fact that eggs have been held in cold storage does not necessarily mean that they are of low quality. Carefully handled cold-storage eggs often are of better quality than fresh local eggs that have been improperly cared for.

Housewives will often find it advantageous to preserve their own eggs in the home, purchasing them when the supply is abundant, and packing them in a solution of water-glass or lime water, or covering them with paraffin or varnish. Such eggs can be kept in good condition for a number of months. For current use fresh eggs usually can be kept satisfactorily for two or three weeks without such treatment, in a refrigerator or dry, cool cellar. If infertile, such eggs may be kept still longer.

A special election will be held in the South Pasadena city school district March 14 to vote 5 per cent bonds in the amount of $118,000 for purchasing sites and erecting school buildings, including a new building to be erected on a new site in the El Centro district, and a 4-room addition to be erected at the Marengo school, and the erection of a $3500 kindergarten building at the Lincoln park school. Plans have been completed for the one-story, 4-room addition to the Marengo school, and it is contemplated to erect a one-story, 10-room, hollow-tile structure for the El Centro district. It will be of Mission style and built around a court fronting on Fair View avenue.
